Re: Oakley, Inc.'s Intellectual Property
Our Reference: OAKLY1.573IS

Dear Mr. Smollens:

We represent Oakley, Inc. in connection with intellectual property matters. Oakley has pioneered a variety of innovations in the field of eyewear, including sunglasses and goggles. Oakley has invested considerable resources into the development of its proprietary technology. In order to protect its investment, Oakley has obtained numerous trademarks and patents, including U.S. Design Patent No. D523,461 (the "D461 patent"), which is enclosed herewith.

Under 35 U.S.C. § 271, any entity that, without permission, makes, uses, offers to sell, sells or imports a product covered by the D461 patent infringes Oakley's patent rights. We have determined that the Sportsman Eyewear video recording system ("Accused Product") sold on your website infringes the claim of Oakley's D461 patent.

Oakley takes infringement of its patent rights very seriously. Oakley recently filed two separate lawsuits in Federal Court to enforce its D461 patent against several accused infringers who, like HandsFreeVideo.com, sold eyewear which were blatant copies of Oakley's claimed design. These lawsuits include:

- Oakley, Inc. v. Predator Outdoor Products et al., Case No. SACV11-00456 JVS, filed March 22, 2011 in the United States District Court for the Central District of California;
- Oakley, Inc. v. Talitor et al., Case No. 3:11-cv-01305 DMS, filed June 14, 2011 in the United States District Court for the Southern District of California.

We demand that you immediately cease further infringement of the D461 patent. We also demand that you pay to Oakley any and all damages that are sufficient to compensate Oakley for its losses related to this patent. In order to determine the amount of damages, we further demand that you account to us for all sales of infringing products.

We request that you provide this information and confirm by July 2, 2012 that you will fully comply with Oakley's demand to cease infringing Oakley's intellectual property rights and will provide the requested sales information. Otherwise, we will file a patent infringement lawsuit against Hire Order. Ltd., d/b/a HandsFreeVideo.com, in the United States District Court for the Central District of California. Any further sales of infringing products will constitute additional evidence of willful infringement, which may entitle Oakley to recover enhanced monetary damages, including treble damages and attorneys' fees.

Sincerely,

Michael K. Friedland
